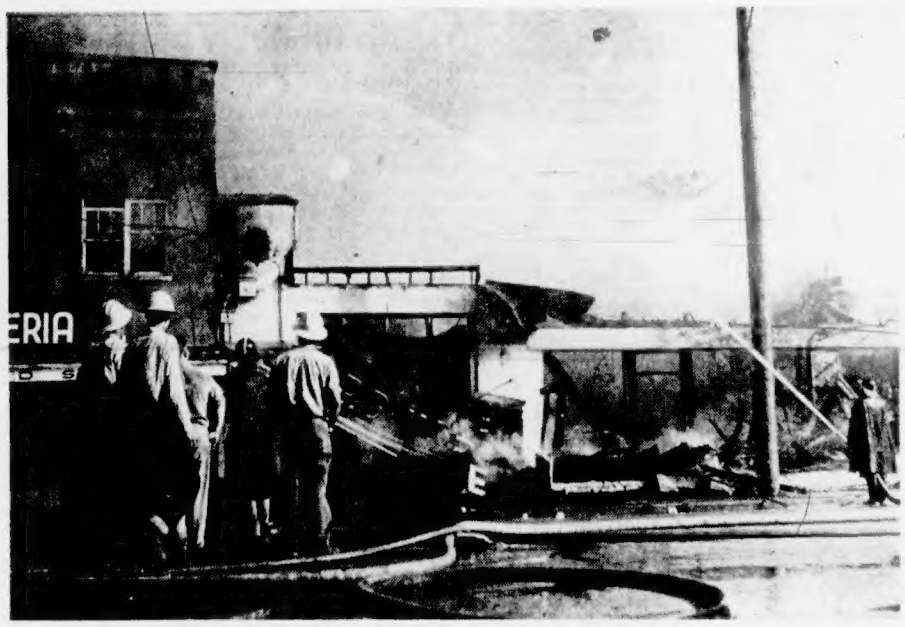
MYSTERY SUB ATTACKED, HIT BY ARGENTINE NAVAL FORCE

Forest Officials Pray for Rain

Forest service officials yesterday looked to the skies and prayed for rain. "Unless we get rain—and I mean a good heavy rain—we're going to have lots of trouble pretty soon," a spokesman said.

The hazard in most areas of the province is high. Vancouver Island is "very dangerous."



Firemen Battle Raging Alberni Fire

Quarter-million-dollar fire raced through the heart of Alberni's business district yesterday, destroying two stores and heavily damaging another store and a bank. When this picture was taken volunteer firemen from Alberni and Port Alberni were trying to keep fire from spreading to adjacent buildings. See story on page 7.—(Photo by Margaret Trebett.)

On Head

Bag Kills Girl

VANCOUVER (CP) — In spite of repeated warnings from her parents not to cover her head with plastic bags, little Donna Wain delighted in the playful practice. Friday it cost the child her life.

Four-year-old Donna suffocated after putting a holeless plastic bag over her head while her two-year-old brother watched in bewilderment.

OFTEN WARNED

Mrs. Sidney Sillett, the child's grandmother, said Donna had been warned repeatedly not to place bags over her head.

Mrs. Sillett, who spoke for her distraught mother, related events leading up to the tragedy.

The child's mother was working in the kitchen when she noticed no sounds were coming from the room where Donna and her brother, Sidney, were playing.

"DONNA FALL DOWN"

She investigated. Donna was lying face down with the bag over her head.

"Donna fall down," Sidney told his mother.

Mrs. Wain ripped the bag from her daughter's head but the child was already dead.

The grandmother said Donna "was always putting bags over her head and had been told not to do it. All the other bags had holes in them."

The child apparently got the bag from a drawer in the room where she was playing.

GEN. CHARLES DE GAULLE
. . . street demonstrators want him back

Pflimlin's Plea:

'Let's Not Rip France Apart'

PARIS (CP)—Premier Pierre Pflimlin Friday night called for reforms to save France from herself as street demonstrators demanded the return to power of Gen. Charles de Gaulle.

The premier in a television speech to the nation asked Frenchmen in France and Algeria to support government changes to prevent the nation "from being torn apart."

As Pflimlin spoke, steel-helmeted riot police broke up demonstrations along the Champs Elysees, arresting about 100 persons.

LONG LIVE DE GAULLE

"Long live de Gaulle!"—"French Algeria!" and "the police are with us!" the demonstrators shouted before they were hustled into police vehicles. More than truckloads of police were brought in to restore order along the main thoroughfare. All demonstrations are banned following emergency powers granted Pflimlin's regime last week.

Amid the shouting for a return to power by de Gaulle, conservative leader Antoine Pinay urged Pflimlin to hand over government leadership to the wartime Free French leader.

PUBLIC SAFETY

In Algiers, Gen. Raoul Salan, commander in chief of the army in Algeria, demanded Paris set up a government of public safety headed by de Gaulle.

Anti-Gaullist parties meanwhile banded together in a "save the republic committee." The powerful Socialist party announced it was hostile to a de Gaulle-led government.

Pflimlin said the unwieldy French system of government must be changed in "the next few days" to create a new republic, adding that government powers must not "be argued, contested, nibbled away" by parliament.

Pflimlin said his 10-day-old regime would stake its existence on the swift passage of reforms to give it and future governments both authority and duration.

The National Assembly agreed to take up the reforms Tuesday, Pflimlin told Frenchmen:

"We passionately want to avoid a rupture between France and Algeria. We want to save public liberties."

Some informed sources said Pflimlin was putting out feelers himself to de Gaulle to help bring the French in Algeria back into line, but this was unconfirmed. Former Premier Pinay apparently got nowhere when he talked to de Gaulle about this Thursday.

Not Ours Say Russians

BUENOS AIRES (AP)—A mystery submarine was attacked by Argentine destroyers and possibly sunk off Argentina's southern coast Wednesday, President Arturo Frondizi announced Friday.

There was unofficial speculation that it might have been a Soviet prowler although the Russian embassy discounted that possibility.

Argentina's naval commander, Rear Admiral Isaac Rojas, said the submarine was "obviously on an unfriendly and inconfessable mission." Otherwise, it would have surfaced at the sound of propellers of Argentine navy ships on manoeuvres in the area.

WEST DENIES OWNERSHIP

All western nations have said none of their submarines was either hit or in the area.

Rojas said it was his opinion the submarine was making a survey of the largely deserted Patagonian coast of Argentina "where there are several bays which could be used to shelter big fleets in the event of war."

NO WARNING

President Frondizi said no warning was made by the Argentine destroyers before they launched their attack after spotting a periscope.

He said under international law, "a submarine must surface after a first depth charge, which did not happen on this occasion."

IN VIOLATION

"On the other hand, as it was in Argentine territorial waters it was openly in violation of international law."

Reuters said that the Soviet military attache, Capt. Nikolai Khlebnikof burst into laughter when told of a claim by a Buenos Aires radio station that the submarine was Russian and that it had been sunk. "Sheer nonsense,"—he was quoted as saying.

NONE REPORTED

The U.S. Embassy in Buenos Aires said no U.S. submarines were reported in the area of the incident, 650 miles south of Buenos Aires. U.S. submarines of the type described are atomic.

In London, the admiralty said the submarine was not British.

"No Royal Navy submarine is missing, overdue or damaged," a London spokesman said.

COMMON TRICK

The president said oil slicks appeared after the attack. This led to the belief that the craft was damaged or sunk. He said the sub was believed to be a high-speed type.

Rojas noted, however, it was a common wartime trick for submarines under attack to release oil and jetsam in an effort to make the enemy believe they had been damaged.

Old Couple Beaten, Brannan Boys Held

NANAIMO—Two 17-year-old Brannan Lake Industrial School fugitives were arrested yesterday and charged with brutally mauling an elderly Wellington couple, tying them to kitchen chairs, and stealing "a considerable amount" of money from them.

Mr. and Mrs. Jacques Rioux were in Nanaimo General Hospital last night after an ordeal of terror, allegedly at the hands of two young toughs who forced their way into the Rioux home with wooden clubs.

BOTH IN JAIL

The two Brannan Lake escapees are in jail, charged with robbery with violence.

Mr. Rioux' nose was apparently broken in two places. Mrs. Rioux is believed suffering from bruises and shock.

ESCAPE ON CRUTCHES

One of the youths had made his escape on a previously broken leg, using crutches stolen from the Rioux home.

Nanaimo RCMP recounted this story:

The two youths escaped in the afternoon from the industrial school five miles north of here. Shortly afterwards, they entered the home of the couple whom police termed "elderly, although exact ages were not known.

Mr. Rioux told police he answered a knock on the door and the pair pushed their way in.

They brandished chunks of wood as clubs.

They demanded money and said they "weren't fooling."

Police said the two clubbed Mr. Rioux in the kitchen. Mrs. Rioux ran to another room to the telephone, locking the door after her.

DRAGGED HER BACK

One of the toughs broke down the door, smashed the telephone and dragged Mrs. Rioux back into the kitchen.

Mr. Rioux, his battered nose bleeding, and Mrs. Rioux were then tied to kitchen chairs.

Police said the pair then stole "a considerable amount of money"—but would not divulge the exact figure.

They were captured two hours later, after the Rioux had struggled loose from their bonds.

CHARLES STARKWEATHER
. . . got what he wanted

Mass Killer Gets Chair

LINCOLN, Neb. (UP — Charles Starkweather, the 19-year-old who went on a homicidal orgy that took 11 lives, was ordered to pay with his own yesterday.

A jury of eight women and four men found the redhaired mass killer guilty the murder of just one of his victims, but that was enough to commit Starkweather to the electric chair.

The former garbage hauler spoke not one word in the courtroom except to whisper what appeared to be "goodbye" to his defense attorney, T. Clement Gaughan, as he was led in handcuffs out of the room.

Reporters stopped him in the corridor as he was being led out on the way to the state penitentiary.

They asked him: "How do you feel, Charlie?"

"I don't think they tried me for Jensen," he said. "They tried me for the whole thing."

By the "whole thing" he meant the rampage of killing that terrorized this community last January when he and his 14-year-old girl friend, Caril Fugate, left bodies strewn from the slums to the most exclusive residential district of Lincoln.

Attorney Gaughan was asked what he thought of the outcome.

"I presume Charlie got what he wanted," Gaughan said.

"That is what he always wanted."

Black Ball

Strike Says SIU

Members of the Seafarers International Union, at present on strike against the CPR's coast steamship service, have voted 95 per cent in favor of strike action against Black Ball Ferries Limited.

Business agent Norm Cunningham confirmed in Vancouver Friday night that his union had voted for strike action.

Asked if a walkout date had been set against Black Ball, he said he did not know the full situation and that he would have to meet with a Seafarers executive committee today.

All three "sailor unions" have now registered strike votes against the CPR and Black Ball.

A report of the meeting will be made to members Wednesday afternoon.

Col. George Paulin, president of Black Ball Ferries, said here he was optimistic that the service between Nanaimo and Horseshoe Bay would not be cut by a strike.

"That's just the legal process (the strike vote)," he said. It doesn't necessarily mean they will strike."

"I don't think they will call a strike. Negotiations are still going on, and they won't walk out in the midst of them."

Bribe Jury Hears How Cash Passed

VANCOUVER (CP) — An Assize Court jury was told by a Crown witness Friday the details of how money was allegedly passed to former lands and forests ministers Robert E. Sommers.

As the prosecution unfolded its 38-count bribery-conspiracy indictment Charles Eversfield, 46-year-old former bookkeeper with Pacific Coast Services Limited, re-entered the witness box.

He testified that through arrangements made by his former boss, Pacific president H. W. Gray, Sommers was sent sums totalling more than $8,500 in a period late in 1953 and early in 1954. He said the former minister got another $3,000 in bonds.

He said $5,125 was sent to the former minister as his part of a $15,000 payment which came to Pacific from another accused firm, B.C. Forest Products. Later, he said $2,500 was sent to Sommers in a telegraphic transfer through a bank and finally $1,000 in cash was mailed to the former minister, packed in a box.

Eversfield was testifying in the 12th day of the trial in which the Crown charges a conspiracy and the giving and receiving of bribes in connection with issuance of government timber licences.

Charged besides Sommers are H. W. Gray, John Gray, Charles D. Schultz; the C. D. Schultz Company Limited; Pacific Coast Services Limited; Ever-

Girl Mangled By Zoo Bear

RACINE, Wis. (UP) — A 300-pound brown bear, rearing suddenly on its hind legs, grabbed the dangling arm of a 10-year-old girl yesterday and mangled it with tooth and claw.

A racing zoo attendant beat down the bear by climbing a fence and smashing at the beast's head with a torn-off tree limb. But the girl's arm remained wedged in the bars and the attendants had to hold off the bear with iron rods while they pried the bars of the cage apart.

Zoo director Emil J Rokosky said the girl, Mary Heibner of Beach Park, Ill., was severely mangled on the arm between elbow and wrist. The bear had bitten her repeatedly and clawed at her. Rokosky said the bear, born and reared in the zoo, was not dangerous.

March on Beirut Forecast in Egypt

CAIRO (AP)—The Egyptian Middle East News Agency said last night a popular government has been formed in south Lebanon and it plans a march within two days on Beirut, Lebanon's capital.

According to reports, government forces are clearing south Lebanon of all government forces.

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—The United Arab Republic accused the United States and Britain Friday of encouraging Lebanon to bring charges of Egyptian-Syrian interference before the Security Council.

Lenin's Works Outsell Bible

VANCOUVER (CP)—For the first time in modern history the "world's best seller," the Bible, is being outpaced by the Communist writings of Lenin, the Pentecostal Assemblies of Canada conference was told Friday.

ALL ABOARD

With G. E. Mortimore

MASSETT — The big stone fireplace at Limberlost resort is cold. Thieves have taken away the picture windows. The dance floor of the main hall shakes underfoot.

All the cabins stand vacant and windowless. The rainwater tank attached to the cookhouse is beginning to come apart. Forlorn garden plants show through the jungly grass.

This abandoned resort in the north coastal woods is just another in a string of commercial failures that mark the history of the Queen Charlotte Islands.

The resort had a fine peaceful setting in the wilderness, next to a creek with fish in it and a short way from an ocean beach of unrivalled beauty.

It had everything it needed — except guests. The Queen Charlottes were too far away from the main travel routes, people thought. And the island climate was reputed to be wet and stormy — a reputation that was not wholly undeserved.

But the islands had only one touch of snow last winter, on Christmas Day. Their spring and summer weather is subject to rapid changes, sunshine, cloud, rain and hail following one another in quick succession, so that residents advise visitors never to leave their raincoats at home, even though the sky might be clear.

One might have hoped that the peace and beauty of the landscape and the good fishing here would cancel out any real or imaginary hazards. But it didn't work that way. The resort was closed, and thieves and vandals sacked it.

Further along the coast we came to one of several deserted farms, where overgrown drainage ditches told of hard work done by some pioneer to drain swamps for pasture.

Wild Cattle Caused Concern

Cattle abandoned by the Hudson's Bay Co. ran wild on the east coast long ago and bred to huge, shaggy, sure-footed cows, able to run along a slender fallen sapling like tightrope artists.

Settlers killed them off, partly for meat and partly because they were a nuisance to domestic cattle, setting them an example of undisciplined behavior.

Then some of the domestic cattle themselves went wild as the settlers deserted their farms. The latter herds of wild cows have been a source of argument ever since. Some people who raise beef cattle on a small scale angrily assert that there are no wild cattle, and that cattle which are being shot as wild actually belong to them.

A few years ago, some fishermen found that they were buying store beef from their own cattle, shot while they, the owners, were out on the fishing grounds.

It seems likely now that there are no truly wild cattle surviving.

We left the abandoned fields, moved along the beach and jumped a creek that flowed down the sand. Three bald eagles circled overhead. On the way back to the car, we passed seaside spruce trees that had fashioned themselves into dense hedges against the wind.

Along the side of the roads were bits of colored ribbons tied to trees, indicating that oil companies had carried out surveys there.

Many attempts have been made to extract the flour-gold and other rare metals from the famous Queen Charlotte "black sands," but none have proved a long-term success. Whaling was carried out for some time, but finally abandoned. One enterprising man grew cranberries in the muskeg that covers so much of the islands, but this project also failed to live up to the hopes that were held for it.

Logging Industry Quiet

Logging, on the southern part of Graham Island, and on Moresby Island, employs about 500 men just now, cutting pulp wood. It used to employ 2,000. But the northern part of Graham Island is mostly unscarred by the axe and saw.

"A rich American has bought up some of the best goose-hunting grounds at the mouth of the Tlell River," said my host. "A local character was going to buy the Delkatla Flats, one of the best areas for goose near Massett. The Rod and Gun club raised the money to buy it. We don't want to shut anybody off. We just want to see that it doesn't become someone's private preserve.

"We can't do much about privately-owned lands, but we're putting pressure on against the alienation of Crown lands that are not suited to anything but game."

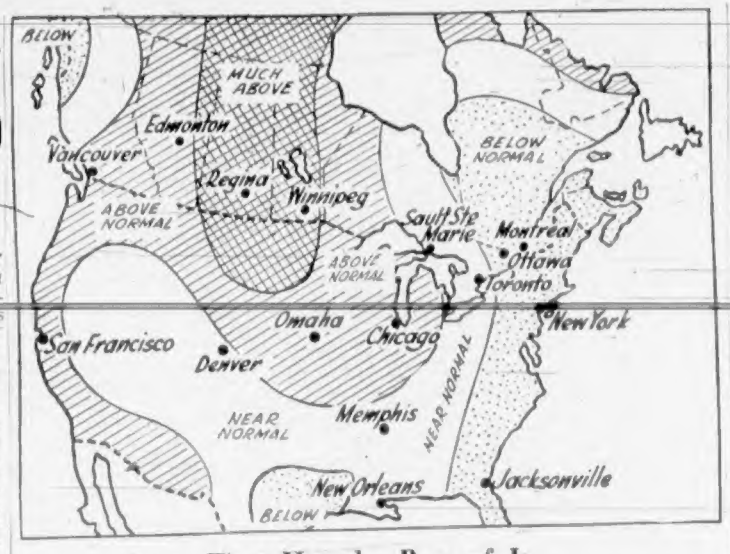
We stopped near the Delkatla flats. My host brought out binoculars, and drew my attention to flocks of geese and sandhill cranes.

"Don't mention the names of any rivers or lakes, if you write about the fishing," he repeated.

The conservative element in Massett — a group to which I would belong, if I lived there — isn't sorry that most get-rich schemes broached in the Charlottes have failed, that tourists seldom come here, and that the population remains sparse.

All the more salmon, trout, clams, crabs, deer, elk and fresh air for us, they say.

thanks to the savage waters of Hecate Strait, which help to preserve the Charlottes as a little world all their own.



West Has the Best of It

General fair and warmer forecast for Victoria district and the rest of B.C. in the next 30 days gives the area about the best weather outlook in the country. Most of Alberta gets the same fare, but the rest of prairies is due for a heatwave with temperatures much above normal.—(CPC)

Grim Winter, Year For B.C. Jobs—Labor

B.C. can expect "abnormally high" unemployment throughout its centennial year and next winter will be as bad, if not worse, than the winter just passed, provincial cabinet was told yesterday.

A delegation from the B.C. Federation of Labor urged that a conference be called between the government, municipalities, labor and business to map out a campaign which would avert a recurrence of the serious unemployment picture of the past few months.

NOT BEFORE 1959

Last February there were 854,257 unemployed persons out of a total labor force of 5,869,000 in Canada registered at national employment service offices, including 99,502 in the Pacific region.

"The consensus is that no upturn will be evident before 1959 and we will have abnormally high unemployment throughout all of 1958 and may well have, if not worse than as bad, an unempolyment situation in 1958-59 winter as the one we have just experienced," stated the federation's brief.

LITTLE COMFORT

The delegation said it could find "little to comfort us" in a list of recommendations made by a legislative committee which probed the question last March.

The federation recommended that road, hospital, housing and school construction be accelerated to help unemployment as well as flood control projects, public works and other jobs.

CUT WORK WEEK

It was recommended that the labor department bring down legislation cutting the work week from 44 to 40 hours and that all present blanket overtime permits be cancelled.

All workers seeking part time employment should go through the national employment service in an effort to control "moonlighting."

Another suggestion was that unempolyment insurance benefits be increased.

Following the 95-minute meeting, B.C. Federation of Labor president William Black described the interview as "one of the best we have ever had."

Fast 18 for Ike And a Sore Arm

The chief executive, here for a weekend of golf and relaxation, was on the first tee of the Gettysburg Country Club shortly after his helicopter completed the 44-minute flight from the White House in Washington.

Dockers Back, Drivers Not

LONDON (Reuters) — A bid to end the three-week-old London bus strike failed last night.

Employers and union chiefs talked for nearly four hours in a vain search for a peace formula.

More than 50,000 workers are involved in the strike, immobilizing a bus fleet that normally handles more than 8,000,000 fares daily.

Meanwhile, a snowballing strike of almost 11,000 long shoremen ended last night when employers agreed not to use non-union stevedores. The strike delayed the loading and unloading of at least 70 ships.

The dock trouble began when 3,500 dock workers walked off the job to support 5,000 striking meat handlers who went on strike at the Smithfield wholesale market because 500 fellow workers were laid off.

The dock workers began the sympathy strike last week and were joined Friday by more than 7,000 stevedores from other docks when London employers used non-union labor — mainly office workers — to shift perishable cargo.

An official strike of Britain's 100,000 dock workers some time next month remains a possibility.

The first wool shipment from Alberta sheep herds, about 70,000 pounds, was sent out in 1884.

BCE 'Can't Tread Water'

'Loaded' Rate Hides Profit?

VANCOUVER (CP) — B.C. Electric was accused yesterday of loading its base rate to create a show a small profit.

The charge was made at a Public Utilities Commission hearing by T. G. Norris, counsel for both Hooker Chemical and Electric Reduction companies, which are opposing the BCE application for a rate increase.

BCE vice-president Lorne McLean argued that earned returns against B.C. Electric's depreciated rate base had declined to 5.03 per cent in 1957 from 5.86 per cent in 1956, and to 4.68 per cent in the first quarter of 1958.

"I wouldn't expect the earned returns for the year 1958 to show as high a return as 4.68 per cent," Mr. McLean said.

Mr. Norris asked him: "You don't think there's anything unfair in loading the rate base with investment for gas distribution, before the revenues are received and can be appreciated?"

"Our situation is so critical that we can't tread water for three years waiting for gas revenues," said Mr. McLean.

With Organ Music

They Lure Tourists

By BRUCE LOWTHER

Dr. Alexander Schreiner is probably the only organist in the world who plays music on a tourist attraction.

The 56-year-old musician, in Victoria for a recital on the new Christ Church Cathedral organ at 8 p.m. today, has been organist at the Mormon Tabernacle in Salt Lake City, Utah, since 1924.

The tourist luring organ on which he plays is one of the most magnificent of its kind in the world. It has 11,000 pipes and fills one section of the 65-year-old temple.

He makes annual tours like the 50-city program which he is completing here tonight, but the church wants him at home in June, July and August, when more than 3,000 persons visit the famous tabernacle for organ recitals every day.

A native of Nuremberg, Germany, Dr. Schreiner was an organist even before he came to the U.S. at the age of 12 years.

"I have never had any other occupation," he said. "I was very eager to be an electrical engineer but opportunities in organ music always grew ahead of me."

However, science continues as a family interest. His two sons can play the organ but are training as engineers and Dr. Schreiner's only hobby is astronomy because "the university telescope is right across the street and we have nice blue skies there."

His program for Victoria includes music of Bach, Franck, Vierne, Dupre and some contemporary Americans.

"After all, all music has to stir you in some way or the other," he said. "If it doesn't, there is a loss of effort on the performer's part and he should go home to his gardening, his knitting — or his astronomy."

Record Earnings

TCA Profit Down

OTTAWA (CP)—Higher operating costs cut into record Trans-Canada Air Lines earnings last year to trim its net surplus to $404,674, the publicly-owned company reported yesterday.

Annual report showed record gross revenues of $104,995,707, an increase of 15 per cent over the 1956 figure of $91,306,000.

But "while the most rigid possible control was exercised," said TCA president G. R. McGregor, "operating expenses increased 16 per cent to a total of $103,500,000" compared to $82,225,000 the previous year.

This cut the surplus for 1957 sharply lower than the $1,556,000 for 1956. It was the seventh consecutive annual surplus.

Higher wages and landing fees, increased fuel costs and Ontario's tax of two cents a gallon aviation fuel were main factors in the operating cost increase.

Quebec Party Bickering 'Tiresome' to Minister

OTTAWA (CP)—Intermittent Commons bickering about the influence of Quebec's Union Nationale party on that province's federal Progressive Conservatives yesterday drew a cabinet minister's comment that he's tired of it all.

Revenue Minister Nowlan referred to the recurring issue in the throne speech debate. He said he doesn't know whether Premier Duplessis is responsible for the 50 Quebec Conservative members returned in the March 31 election—compared with nine elected in 1957—"but if he is then he must be very proud because we certainly are proud of them."

The theme of Progressive Conservative-Union Nationale co-operation in the federal speech debate which reached a milestone late yesterday when a vote was taken on a CCF motion of non-confidence in the government.

The motion, calling for planned economic policies and greater foreign trade was easily defeated by the huge Conservative majority 194 to 8. The Liberals voted with the government.

Sommers Case

green Lumber Sales Limited and B.C. Forest Products.

The prosecution, which mainly bases its case on documents taken by Eversfield when he left his bookkeeper's job with Pacific early in 1955, alleges that Sommers got some $14,000 through the arrangement while he was minister. Sommers resigned from the cabinet in 1956 but still is a member of the legislature.

Eversfield's elucidation of events in the Pacific office in the late 1953 and 1954 period were made as he was under prosecution examination, identifying various documents he took from Pacific files. The documents range from bank deposits slips and promissory notes to entertainment bills from Vancouver clubs.

The witness said H. W. Gray told him late in 1953 that $15,000 was coming in from B.C. Forest Products. The Pacific Coast Services president, he said, added that half was to be kept by Pacific and the other half was to go to Sommers.

ANOTHER $500

But he disclosed that for purposes of income tax, Pacific deducted 25 per cent from Sommers' $7,500 shares, leaving $5,625. And then another $500 was deducted to meet the cost of three rugs purchased by Sommers and paid for through the Pacific office. That left $5,125 for the former minister.

Later, Eversfield said, he went to the bank with H. W. Gray and arranged a telegraphic transfer of $2,500 to Sommers in Victoria. Gray had inquired about records of the transaction and had been told by the bank manager there would be records "but they would not be available to other people."

Eversfield said Pacific general manager R. J. Nichol expressed concern about sending the money through the bank. He had asked Gray whether he thought "the bank manager knew what transpired." Gray had replied in the negative and said "I don't think we have any cause to worry."

Eversfield said that in February, 1954, $1,000 in cash was sent to Sommers, packed in a box.

SIX $500 BONDS

He also testified that a total of six $500 bonds were sent to the former minister at various times. He said that at the time of the Lord commission which briefly investigated charges with respect to government timber licences early in 1955, these bonds had caused concern among Sommers and Gray.

Gray went to Victoria and conferred with Sommers, Eversfield said. On his return Gray had ordered Eversfield to attempt to get the serial numbers of the bonds involved.

Eversfield said Gray told him at the time that if they were questioned, they would have to declare the bonds which were lodged in a Victoria bank.

U.S. Army Suspends Nike Work

WASHINGTON (UP) — The Army announced yesterday a nation-wide suspension of modification work on Nike-Ajax missiles. An explosion at the Leonardo, N.J., Nike base killed seven persons Thursday.

The army said that modification work had been completed on "hundreds" of missiles in other parts of the country "without incident."

The suspension will remain in effect until the cause of the New Jersey explosion has been determined.

Oil-Fed Fire Still Roaring

LONG BEACH, Calif. (AP)—Firemen yesterday gave up all hope of trying to extinguish a raging oil refinery fire that already has cost millions of dollars and claimed two lives.

"We are not trying to put out the fire now," said county fire chief Noel Manchester. "We won't. It will have to burn itself out."

The inferno-like blaze started Thursday afternoon.

Mass Funeral For Little Fire Victims

WILLIAMS LAKE, B.C. (CP) — A mass funeral will be held today for the 12 young victims of the Anahim Indian Reserve hospital fire.

RCMP here said yesterday all bodies have been recovered. The children will be buried in the reserve cemetry, only 200 yards from scene of the fire, whose origin is still a mystery. Requiem mass will be conducted by the local priest, Rev. John Patterson. Archbishop William Duke of Vancouver will attend.

Makeshift Financing

SETTLEMENT of the teachers' wage dispute in the Greater Victoria school district at a compromise figure is satisfactory in the sole respect that it removes anxiety as to whether or not schools could reopen in the new year with adequate staffs. Raising the money to meet the addition to the wage bill is another matter. Regardless of the circumstances which caused deterioration of relationships between the board and its teachers, there is the fact that because of the disagreement the municipal councils — through no vestige of fault on their part — have in effect to resort to deficit financing.

Temporary though it may be, this is a slipshod way of providing the schools with revenue. The Greater Victoria board, and no doubt others in like position, had budgeted for some increase this year in teachers' salaries — 6 per cent in Victoria's case. The settlement allows them 11¼ per cent, so that there is the amount represented by 5¼ per cent of the total which could not be included in this year's municipal estimates. Something had to be done about that to enable the board to pay wages at the new scale when it becomes effective in September. To meet this contingency the provincial government graciously permitted the excess to be carried over into next year.

That slides over the difficulty for 1958, but the effect of this makeshift financing is merely to postpone the day of reckoning. In relation to the salary bill for two-fifths of the financial year, spread among the contributing municipalities, the total involved is not large; but it must be remembered that the carry-over will have to be added to whatever additional demands the board will make of municipal taxpayers next year — and it will be a pleasant shock if there aren't any. One may assume with a reasonable degree of certainty that while this year may be a bad one for the property owners, next year will be worse — in many instances ruinously so because of impending revisions of assessments in some classifications.

All this serves as a further demonstration of the muddle into which the system of school financing has fallen. Emergency grants from the government and other forms of patchwork are no remedy. The whole thing needs overhauling by impartial experts who can stand back far enough to see how it affects all concerned. A government itself cannot do that.

Vancouver Island Affairs

EVENTS of the last few weeks have demonstrated again that Vancouver Island communities suffer from a lack of cohesion which weakens their efforts in any necessary approach to the governments of the day. Island boards of trade take interest in business matters. The Union of B.C. Municipalities performs an analogous function with regard to civic affairs. There are other organizations with special connections, but none which is able to present a united appeal on behalf of Vancouver Island as a whole.

It is ironic for instance that Vancouver Island communities, which elected a solid front of Progressive Conservatives in the last federal election and are represented both in Parliament and cabinet at Ottawa, have been unable even to get the ear of the administration to lodge an appeal from the tie-up of its main ferry services. It is true that individual representations have gone forward from most of the leading organizations concerned. That is not quite the same thing as a united request by all Island communities acting in concert.

When it is recalled that the Island has a population of between 200,000 and 300,000 people, and in area represents one of the most productive regions of British Columbia, its weight in the affairs of the nation is entitled to more recognition than the piecemeal approach on any and on every subject has won, or is ever likely to win.

There have been many commissions in the Maritimes to consider the affairs of regions considerably smaller and less densely populated, and action later by Parliament on their recommendations. It was not, however, until the four Atlantic Provinces put their heads together that their needs and their submissions got beyond the "commission" stage at Ottawa. Nor are we thinking of the ebb and flow in party politics. Vancouver Island is an economic entity of importance to British Columbia and to the nation. It is late in the day to discover that it will not be listened to unless it howls to high heaven over the most fundamental and basic of issues.

Pioneers Honored

PIONEER Week will open in British Columbia today as an integral part of the Province's centennial celebrations. Upwards of 250 senior citizens, ranging in age from three-score years and ten up to the century mark, will be given scrolls to mark their part in the early years of settlement on the Pacific Coast at a ceremony at Holyrood House under the auspices of the Greater Victoria Centennial Committee. Lieutenant-Governor Ross will present the scrolls marking the distinctive occasion. Similar observances will be held throughout B.C. during the week to come in all communities where pioneers have registered.

Much credit is due to the special committee of the centennial organization which, under the chairmanship of Mr. Robert H. Hiscocks, spent several months in a thorough-going canvass of the province to find those who were eligible for the honor. One of the surprises in the result has been in the relatively large number of men and women who can qualify through birth and continued residence here since very early times. The pioneers' committee also turned up a good deal of new source material of interest to the provincial archives, not only in the lives of those immediately concerned but also in respect of their progenitors.

As the youngest of the pioneers included in the list must be 72 years of age to qualify, all who are to be the recipients of scrolls have been British Columbians from at least the year 1886, or four years after the incorporation of Victoria as a city. It was a happy thought which suggested their recognition. Greater Victoria as it exists today is in part the outcome of their interest and efforts in an age when settlement called for sturdy qualities of self-reliance, endurance and improvisation in rounded out measure. Commemorating British Columbia's own Centenary, the scrolls will bear their names and the appropriate dates of the occasion.

Lebanon's Troubles Fomented

By WILLIAM L. RYAN

Associated Press Staff Correspondent

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — The violence in Lebanon can best be described as a political explosion basically rooted in domestic politics—the outs want to be in.

Ten years ago the world would have paid little attention. Today, because of her geography, Lebanon's troubles have deep meaning for a world involved in cold war.

The quarrel is internal, but intruding upon this tiny stage are Russians and Americans, Communists and anti-Communists, pro-Nasser forces and anti-Nasser elements, Christians and Moslems.

Because the government of President Camille Chamoun has a reputation for being pro-Western, the West labelled all the opposition anti-Western. This was not so.

Outside pressures nagging at this strategically situated country of some 3,000,000 Christians and Moslems helped turn a domestic political fight into a fever of violence such as Lebanon has not known since she became independent of France in 1943.

At least 200 lost their lives, some of them innocent bystanders.

The outbreaks shuttered Beirut's shops and turned the capital into a dead city by night under rigid curfew. Police and army patrols roamed the city, threw up checkpoints and roadblocks, arrested hundreds of suspects, fought gun battles with hooligans.

The army deported scores of Palestinians, Syrians and Egyptians suspected of being under orders to exploit Lebanon's internal troubles for the benefit of Nasser's United Arab Republic.

Where did the violence come from? Everybody disclaims it. But bombs went off, and gun battles became commonplace in some areas. In the north, the army battled forces at Tripoli under Opposition Leader Rashid Karami, a pro-Syrian who posed a threat of seeking armed Syrian interference.

South of Beirut, the quarrel engulfed the Druze people. Half of them sided with the opposition and rallied to Kamal Jumblatt, a Druze politician. The other half sided with the government and followed the dashing figure of the Emir Mejid Arsalan, a stout, bemedalled former government minister in army uniform and flowing Arab head-dress.

The Druzes themselves finally agreed to stop fighting one another, but Jumblatt's forces continued to battle the government. Arsalan's men just went back to work.

Inside Beirut another opposition leader, former prime minister Saeb Salam, holed up behind stone barricades.

Sounds That Can Deafen

By THOMAS R. HENRY

Science Editor, North American Newspaper Alliance

A PROGRESSIVE deafness is resulting from the increasing use of ultrasonics — inaudible sound waves — largely through chemical changes they cause in the hearing nerves. This has been reported to the Acoustical Society of America by Dr. Z. D. Angeluscheff of Elmhurst Hospital, New York.

The amplitude of the ultrasonic waves may have little to do with the phenomenon. He pointed out that all it takes is very slight sonic energy, at the right place and the right time, to produce damaging effects to the hearing faculty.

The sources of the damaging vibrations, he explained, are high speed cutting tools, combustion engines, power transmission and electronic equipment. Since the vibrations are inaudible and, for the most part, without sensory effect of any kind, people are injured without knowing it, even to the point of complete deafness.

"The ear of man is conditioned by evolution," Dr. Angeluscheff said, "to receive and interpret as sound vibrations up to 32,000 a second. The dog perceives up to 35,000, the cat up to 50,000, the mouse up to 95,000 and the bat up to 120,000 cycles a second. Frequencies above these ranges are not perceived subjectively as sound.

"But ultrasonic waves vibrating at a frequency of 400,000 cycles a second, much too high to be heard by the human ear, are able to tear away the thin, tough wall which encases one-celled organisms. The effect is similar to the breaking of crystal glass by a very high human voice.

"Eight million inhabitants of New York, speaking at once, would produce a vocal energy hardly enough to light a 60-watt lamp. One voice of these eight millions would represent a very small amount of energy indeed. But such an infinitesimal energy can shatter a goblet to pieces . . . Silent sound pounds upon our hearing apparatus, but we are not aware of it, very much like X-rays and ultra-violet light waves."

It is well known that sound waves can produce chemical reactions, he pointed out. Little appreciated, however, is the fact that these reactions can occur in the chemistry of the nerves. They require time, but "infinitesimal energy in due length of time is capable of causing irreversible changes in the organ or hearing," Dr. Angeluscheff said.

What happens in the acoustic nerve is explained in the report:

"The energy causes migration of ions (chemical particles). The energy necessary to initiate this phenomenon is infinitesimal. Ultrasonics of a tenth of a watt per square centimetre break down cells, kill bacteria and stimulate proliferative changes in bone. In the organ of corti, part of the hearing apparatus, the cell structures are disrupted and nerve fibres are damaged.

"Vibratory energy stimulation depletes cellular potassium and inhibits nerve response to stimuli. A prolonged exposure inhibits recovery and enhances to paralysis of function. Deprivation of the sensory nerve of potassium inhibits its microphonic response. The nerve is getting 'hard of hearing.'"

Relatively low energy in the ultrasonic range, he said, has been found to inhibit building up of proteins in the hearing nerves. The potassium, which is necessary for nerve transmission, is bound up with these proteins. The nerve ceases to respond and becomes inert. The end is complete deafness.

Reports from Ottawa

THE terms of the agreement between Canada and the United States covering arrangements for joint continental air defence do not answer a question which is of very great importance to Canada.

It is: Will the American commander of the North American Air Defence Command (NORAD) have authority to order RCAF planes to shoot down aircraft which the commander considers hostile, without first clearing his order with Ottawa?

In spite of (or perhaps because of) the government's failure to clarify this matter, there is a strong inference that such indeed is the situation. That for all of Foreign Minister Smith's assertion about "the primacy of civilian authority," the decision to fire what could be the first shot in World War III would be made by the NORAD commander and not by the responsible civilian authorities in either Ottawa or Washington.

The agreement says the NORAD commander — who is an American, and likely always will be an American — "will operate within a concept of air defence approved by the appropriate authorities of our two governments." It also says "The plans and procedures to be followed by NORAD in wartime shall be formulated and approved in peacetime by appropriate national authorities and shall be capable of rapid implementation in an emergency."

Smith told the Commons that "detailed terms of reference" for the NORAD commander "have also been approved by the two governments . . . In the interests of national security," he added, "these detailed terms of reference cannot be made public."

What this seems to mean is that Canada and the U.S. have given authority to the NORAD commander, Lt.-Gen. Earle Partridge, USAF, to take counter-measures "capable of rapid implementation" in the event of an invasion of North American air space. There is no logical interpretation of this other than that Partridge can tell Washington and Ottawa after he has issued orders to interceptor pilots of the RCAF, USAF or both to shoot down planes he considers hostile.

Authority to "shoot first and ask questions later" may be utterly essential to minimize the percentage of Russian jets loaded with nuclear bombs which might penetrate continental air defences and devastate North American cities.

The tenor of the bilateral agreement, and of Smith's explanation in the Commons, indicates that it is. The agreement refers to a "demand" for "rapid decisions to keep pace with the speed and tempo of technological developments" in air offensive capabilities. It says that to achieve maximum effectiveness, "defensive operations must commence as early as possible and enemy forces must be kept constantly engaged."

In other words, Russian bombers must be stopped in the Far North, where their bombs would do little damage.

And as Defence Minister Pearkes said last year, there would be no time for consultation in the event of attack.

The overwhelming weight of evidence is thus that Patridge's finger is on the trigger, with orders to squeeze under certain circumstances. But why the secrecy? Why does not the government clear up the uncertainty, make public the exact situation? By its failure to do so, it encourages suspicions that it has given the U.S. greater control over Canadian forces than may in fact be the case.

Free-Loading Readers

By GREGORY CLARK

ONE word of caution: if you are thinking of buying a magazine at the magazine counter of the big stores, don't go at noon. You can't get within reach of the counter.

It is surrounded solid by lunch-hour readers. They are mostly girls, though the odd man is to be detected slyly in their midst. They are free-loading. They do not intend to buy a magazine. Why buy a whole magazine when you want only the one story in it? Why buy ten magazines when, in a month, you find in them only ten stories, net, that attract you?

The clerks at one such counter tell me that most girls, by bolting their lunch, can read a whole short story in one lunch hour. But some of them return several days in succession to complete reading one of those lengthy novelettes. It is not at all uncommon to see a girl in tears over what she is reading, though all round her swirls the throng of heedless shoppers, and rude customers jostle her in the throes of trying to buy a magazine. She is utterly unconscious of her surroundings. She is lost in the story. She has escaped.

The days the new issues come out with some serial story, there is practically a battle . . .

"Some," say the clerks, "just can't afford magazines. Others are just thrifty. It doesn't matter. The magazines are under the book department manager. And he loves readers. He believes in encouraging reading in any shape or form. If you want to browse around in the magazines, come in after lunch hour."

Looking the free-loaders over, I decided that they had a kind of gentle guise. They were individually people it would be nice to know.

On the Record

Whither America?

By DOROTHY THOMPSON

NATIONALLY and internationally the United States and the West are in the midst of a serious "time of troubles," to use the phrase of Arnold Toynbee and other philoso-

Nationally we are in an economic crisis in which we are trying to run a largely planned economy (directed by big government, big business, and big labor) on the basis of political democracy.

There has always been a big question whether this is, in the long run, possible. It requires decisive actions, hence the exercise of firm authority, and more authority than this administration with an opposition majority in Congress is able or even wishes to assume.

Economies regulated by the market's laws of supply and demand (classical capitalism) have been cursed by the so-called business cycle, in which surpluses lead to unemployment, unemployment to a fall in wages and prices, and subsequently readjustment and a swing upward again. The goal of all modern capitalist economies is to avoid this by government investment and spending when times are bad, easing up when recovery begins. In this Keynesian theory government does not go into business in any permanent way, but manipulates the forces as they begin to manifest themselves, by credit and tax policies and investment in public works.

But there is obviously a limit to pump-priming possibilities. Right now I am having an artesian well dug, amidst noise racking to the nerves, not less so because of the price of footage. They have struck water. But one can pump even a deep well dry, and there can come a point in an economy when the pump doesn't prime because the water level has fallen too far.

A planned economy requires not only active decisions but also flexibility. Successive governments of the United States have gone beyond the possibility of flexibility in terms of retrenchment. Government is not manipulating business as an arbiter. It is itself the largest business in America. The socialized sector of the economy is outrunning the private sector.

The largest part of government business is in preparation for war, or "defence," into which the entire economy is tied. With our present international policy it is impossible seriously to retrench in this area and thus set free tax money for fresh initiatives. Government must, therefore, either inflate the economy further by debt increase or dry the well by taxation.

Normally (if anything any more were "normal") a standstill should be effected in the greatest element in the cost of production, namely, wages. But we have the phenomenon of the wage-cost-wage spiral that apparently no one can check. Because actually, in a political democracy dependent on votes and on the unremitting pressure on Congress of organized blocs, political leadership is unwilling to do so.

So, in the midst of unemployment, wages are actually rising, including the wages paid by the government to its myriads of employees.

Even the Ford brothers, advocating fight against monopolies, kept quiet on the monopoly of labor. The employed are taking it out of the hides of the unemployed and working for expanded unemployment insurance to enable them to do so.

But how can an economy be "managed" if labor in one way or another votes its own dividends, government is not outside but inside, up to its neck and the hucksters suddenly fail to be able to drum up sales?

Democratic socialism is, I fear, an illusion. Socialism — in fact state capitalism — requires authoritarian government by a bureaucratic dictatorship. In this, at least, communism is logical.

This column does not quite understand what all the fighting between capitalism and communism is about.

This country is moving steadily toward state capitalism (along with the rest of the world) and communism is just state capitalism with longer experience.

With the Classics

Much have I seen and known—cities of men
And manners, climates, councils, governments,
Myself not least, but honored of them all—
And drunk delight of battle with my peers,
Far on the ringing plains of windy Troy.
I am a part of all that I have met;
Yet all experience is an arch wherethrough
Gleams that untraveled world whose margin fades
Forever and forever when I move.

Backbone Needed

It was bound to come. Vancouver Island, a part of the Dominion of Canada, was and is only connected by private enterprise, and by the State of Washington (foreign state ferry) to the mainland of Canada.

The pioneers of this country saw and realized the true situation, as it was and as it would of course develop.

When we joined Canada, those sensible people made provision for such an eventuality; they entered into a treaty with Canada called the Terms of Union. It was in writing and is today still printed in the Statutes of B.C. whenever there is a revision of the B.C. Statutes. It is in full force and effect and cannot be altered, even with the consent of the province and Canada; it must have the imperial consent.

It provided for a railroad to the Pacific (which meant the Pacific coast of Vancouver Island, as found by the commissioner, Lord Carnarvon)—but it was never built. It also obligated the Dominion government to have a steamship service for passengers and freight to America, to Olympia the capital of Washington State, and San Francisco in California. Ottawa never did either!

Let us have backbone enough to stand up for our legal and moral rights. Let Canada at once establish the ship routes, using the CNR ships now in eastern waters on the verge of being sold and perhaps lost to a foreign country. There never was a more opportune moment to have our agreement with Ottawa lived up to. It would strengthen the ties and understanding between Ottawa and this Island forever.

I can see no value in throwing brick-bats at the prime minister. We should simply call on him to fulfill our agreement and let's have those eastern ships immediately.

Horses to the Rear

I am visiting Victoria for a while, and I might add enjoying my stay immensely.

On Monday, I watched the splendid centennial parade, and was duly impressed by its organization, and the display of talent from the out-of-town competitors; and last but certainly not least the versatility of your own local groups.

If I might be allowed to voice one small criticism it would be to suggest that the horses bring up the rear of future processions (for sanitary reasons).

Apart from the obvious unpleasant appearance thereof in the middle of the procession and the unevitable discomfort of those near by, it could be the potential cause of minor accidents among the smaller contestants, to say nothing of throwing them out of step, which to them would be a major calamity.

Vociferous Minority

By ultimately providing a measure of security through legislation, the government has the difficulty of determining a zoo. Probably the more comprehensive the collection of animals, birds, and fish, the nearer a definition towards a zoo.

The Minister of Conservation, Earle C. Westwood, is to be commended for viewing this matter positively, and with a democratic approach in acknowledging considerable public interest in displayed creatures substantiated locally by persons viewing the park enclosure and aviary, and the several thousand visitors to the Durrance Road zoo since its recent opening.

Rudy Bauersachs deserves congratulations for an ingenious layout in pleasant surroundings, the general cleanliness, and particularly the children's zoo section containing the more domesticated animals. The admission charge is very reasonable, and his efforts are a credit to Victoria.

The vociferous minority of dissenters opposed to raging appear oblivious to many times the number of captive creatures outside of few B.C. zoos, as evident by the home budgie, rabbit, pet shop monkey, mink farms, etc. Also seemingly condoning, and having no qualms in relishing a tasty chicken, winking an eye to the probability of it being fattened in a very confined area; consuming the breakfast egg conveniently forgetful of modern farming methods.

In contrast perhaps zoo creatures are more fortunate than some people's vivid imagination make them appear to be.

Mental Illness

Two articles of striking significance appear in the Colonist of May 21; one on page two by Dr. Hugh Paul of Birmingham, England, who rightly says we spend far too much on curing diseases and far too little on prevention; the other on page seven dealing with the problem of retarded children in Canada. To be informed as we are that here in B.C. we already have 10,000 retarded children, and nothing being done in the way of prevention, surely should as claimed be a public responsibility.

When we recall that during Mental Health Week your paper published the figures that during their lifetime one out of every 12 children born this year will go to hospital with serious mental illness, and will spend at least 11 years there, even then only or less than half recover. To bear out Dr. Paul's statement we are forced to admit that now we have over 70,000 mentally ill in hospitals, and that admissions to mental hospitals are being doubled every four years, and nothing being done to prevent, to relieve or to alleviate the cause which all intelligent persons agree is due to effects of an economic system which is not and can not effectively meet human need.

Sad to note that in spite of the warnings of science on every hand we have still with us people who blindly claim the world is getting better every day, but Dr. Paul, the Canadian Mental Health Association and even Billy Graham do not agree.

$20,000,000 Penalty

I am only one of thousands of native-born Vancouver Islanders all of whom must hang their heads in shame for the insult to our guests and visitors for having deprived them of adequate means of returning to their homes.

Personally I would like to see a $20,000,000 fine imposed upon those responsible for the existing strike, in partial repayment for the damages they have done or are about to do to our centennial celebrations.

Small Car Coming From GM?

WILMINGTON, Del. (UP) — General Motors president Harlow H. Curtice said yesterday General Motors has the question of building a small car in the United States "under study."

It was the first admission and biggest concession the company has made about its Chevrolet small car program which some say has reached the tooling stage.

Curtice said, "our surveys still indicate that the type of product we are now offering represents the desires of a major portion of the car buying public."

Aim of Labor Congress

Better Pensions

OTTAWA (CP) — The executive council of the Canadian Labor Congress yesterday proposed broad changes in Canada's social legislation.

The council, at its first meeting since being elected at last month's CLC convention in Winnipeg, was dealing with a series of resolutions left over when the convention adjourned.

BETTER PENSION

It asked for a contributory old age pension plan with workers, employers and the federal government sharing. Provision would be made for inclusion of self-employed people. There would be protection against loss of purchasing power from benefits through inflation.

The 21-member council also asked that the eligible age for universal old age pensions be reduced immediately to 65 from 70 and the monthly benefits be increased to a basic $75.

SOME REVISIONS

The council is also proposing a number of revisions in unemployment insurance. Among these are:

1. Extension of coverage to all wage and salary earners.

2. Establishment of benefit rates at not less than two-thirds of former earnings and the creation of two new insurance classes to cover higher-paid workers.

3. Substantial increase in the present $4,800 income ceiling for participation.

4. Provision for the payment of benefits to persons insured by the act who become unemployed because of illness.

The council reiterated a positive support for the Canadian Labor Congress policy favoring free education with full provincial autonomy in the educational field.

THE VOICE OF ONE

By REV. DR. FRANK S. MORLEY

Worried by a long silence in a roomful of boys and girls, a mother took a quick look. She reported, "The girls sat at one end of the room and the boys at another, looking at funny papers!" Lack of conversation among youth is due in part to the disappearance of the essay examination which required clarification and expression of ideas.

Family customs are responsible, too. The worst loss in modern housing is the dining room. Too many families listen to television while eating, or youngsters gulp food and dash to the television before the meal is over.

I know one family that just eats and never says a single word. The conversation of some consists of family problems. "Can I have the car tonight Dad?" "Why not, Dad? All the kids . . ." "Can I stay out 'til 12 tonight Mum?" "You kids left your room in a ghastly mess. Now I warn you . . ."

One lovely family brings a "treasure" to the table, each member contributing an incident or observation of the day. Another fixes subjects for discussion. Such families succeed. Most failures in marriage do not end in separation. They end in bored silence or tired bits of small talk, like the husband and wife who had nothing to say to one another once the dripping tap was fixed.

Faculty for Listening

Most of us have many acquaintances but few friends because we either chatter all the time or do not talk at all, or because our conversation is self-centred and superficial. Lowes Dickenson with his fine courtesy was a prince of listeners. Greer Garson with her vivacious sympathy was another. Those who knew Robert Benchley said he had a rare faculty to draw you out, manoeuvred conversation so as to make you feel witty and important. You were wonderfully improved in his company.

Boswell accustomed us to think of Samuel Johnson as a model. Hester Thrale said, however, "Johnson's conversation was much too strong for a person accustomed to obsequiousness and flattery: it was mustard in a young child's mouth."

I have a dreadful fear of talkers like Jane Austen's Miss Bates, suffering from the malady of "total recall." With such people Lamb would suffer from a nose-bleed requiring a hurried departure.

Brilliant Silence

Coleridge once said to Lamb, "I believe you never heard me preach." Lamb replied, "I have never heard you do anything else."

When it was observed that a certain woman "was very outspoken," Dorothy Parker replied, "By whom?" But some of the best talkers have been monologists. Witty Sydney Smith was pleased to observe in Macaulay several brilliant flashes of silence. He called Daniel Webster "a steam engine in trousers."

Conversation is civilization's finest achievement. It is vital to community life. Have you ever noticed that the deaf suffer more from loss of hearing than the blind do from loss of sight?

People shut off from others tend to become "queer." No punishment is more brutal than solitary confinement. Somerset Maughan claims conversation is one of life's greatest pleasures. What an understatement! Sane, healthy living is impossible without it.

Plea to U.S.

'Help Us Convert Canada'

HOUSTON, Tex. (UP)—Rev. Jack McKay, Vancouver Baptist minister, asked the Southern Baptist convention yesterday to help him seek converts in Canada, but he was turned down.

The convention of 13,000 messengers (delegates) from Southern Baptist churches, which ended last night, took the view that if Southern Baptists went after converts in Canada it might stir up ill feeling.

"There is a tremendous need for Southern Baptist work in Canada," Mr. McKay said. "The Roman Catholic church now has 50 per cent of the Canadian population.

"We asked the Washington-Oregon convention to accept and work with us, and they did. Now we are asking you."

However, a number of Southern Baptist officials said they had received letters from many Canadian Baptists asking them to stay out of Canadian affairs. The request was then voted down.

No State Medicine In Quebec—Duplessis

QUEBEC CITY (BUP) Premier Maurice Duplessis says the opening of medical diagnostic centres by the government "does not mean state medicine in the province."

The program, he said, is designed "to come to the assistance of those people with limited financial resources who may benefit through medical examination, X-rays, etc., which they could not afford otherwise."

He said the proposed centres would also give family doctors access to first rate facilities to aid diagnosis of their patients' ills.

"There is no question of state medicine now in the province competing with the other hospitals or medical institutions," he emphasized.

Alberni Business Block

$250,000 Fire Loss

By MARGARET THEBETT

ALBERNI—Damages in a fire in a Johnston Street business block may be as high as $250,000, it was estimated as firemen continued to work on smoking ruins four hours after they turned out at 7 a.m. Friday.

Bronson's Hardware and Furniture Store was flattened, the top floor of the two-storey premises of Anderson's Groceteria was gutted and the front of the upper storey of the building was pulled down by a cable attached to a fire truck. Flames, smoke and water extensively damaged contents of the groceteria.

BLASTS FROM CANS

Blasts from exploding cans of paint, floor wax and other combustibles added to the din as all members of Alberni volunteer fire brigade and two trucks from Port Alberni's department joined in fighting the blaze, one of the most disastrous in the city's history.

Damage may be found less than estimated when investigations are made of the basement of Bronson's where a considerable number of refrigerators and other stock is stored.

It may be possible to salvage some goods in the grocery store.

THICK SMOKE

A thick column of smoke and flames was shooting from the roof of Bronson's when Port Alberni's firemen were called to assist in fighting the uncontrolled blaze. Arriving on the scene some 45 minutes after the Alberni department, port firemen put their aerial ladder into use.

A large part of the city and some of the rural area was affected by a power failure due to the fire.

It was almost exactly 20 years ago that Carter's Hardware and Furniture, predecessor of Bronson's, was burned out.

COVERED INSURANCE

It is believed that both the stores involved are covered by insurance. Fred C. Bronson is owner and manager of the furniture store, Anderson's Groceteria, a long-established store, is operated by William Anderson and his son, John.

Contents of Alberni Real Estate, Alberni Electric and the Canadian Bank of Commerce building were removed by volunteers at the height of the fire.

Sentence May 30 For Police Beaters

DUNCAN—Three young men were found guilty at Chemainus Friday, of charges that they "unlawfully caused bodily harm to a police constable while the officer was making an arrest."

Magistrate W. H. Bryant remanded the three in custody until May 30, for sentence.

Found guilty were Richard [illegible], Robert Charles Brooks, 18, both of Chemainus, and Roger Arthur Lampitt of Nanaimo.

A fourth man, John Clayton Rumley, was charged with being an accessory after the fact to the crimes committed by Lampitt and another man, Donald Sherwood. The Crown charges that Rumley concealed the men in his home and failed to surrender them to police when a search was being made following the escape of Sherwood after he had been arrested.

The case against Rumley was also adjourned to May 30, so that the lawyers for defence and Crown can submit arguments. Bail of $1,500 for Rumley was continued.

D. R. Robinson of Ladysmith represented Douglas and Brooks and also represented Rumley.

D. R. Williams of Duncan represented the Crown in all cases.

Sherwood, who pleaded guilty, was sentenced to nine months definite and nine months indefinite by Magistrate W. H. Bryant, on May 22. The Crown appealed this sentence and the Appeal Court raised the sentence to two years.

The offence took place on April 13, when the police were making a search of two cars for liquor. Donald Sherwood obstructed Const. William Bloxham, and when the officer tried to force his way past a fight ensued.

Two Records for Cliff As Vic High Triumphs

By JIM TAYLOR

Victoria High School's track team, getting two record-breaking performances from little John Cliff, showed a clean pair of heels to athletes from three schools yesterday to win the annual Inter-High School Track and Field Meet for the 11th time in 12 years.

Cliff, a 16-year-old tabbed as a future distance great, won the junior 880 and the junior mile in record time to help make a shambles of what was expected to be another close battle between the host Vic High team and its traditional rivals from Oak Bay.

However, this year's race for the Roy Jones Memorial Trophy was a far cry from last year's battle, which went down to the last two relay races before the outcome was certain.

BIG MARGIN

Vic High went into the track events leading Esquimalt by nine points. When final figures were tabulated, the defending champions had a total of 170½ points, followed by Oak Bay at 132, Esquimalt at 92½, and Mount View at 46.

Despite a gusty wind that helped out runners in the dashes, only three records fell, and Cliff's performance turned out to be the highlight of the meet.

Cliff, who set two records in the Victoria High inter-house meet last weekend, started the 880 as if he were running the 440, and although he slowed slightly in the final lap, he finished in 2:9.4. Previous record was 2:12.7, set last year by Fred Wright of Oak Bay.

In the junior mile, Cliff came in with a time of 4:55.8, the same time as that recorded earlier by Jack Horn of Victoria High in the senior mile. Old record for the junior event was 4:59.1, set last year by Garry Millard.

ANOTHER STAR

But all the glory didn't go to Cliff. A major portion of it was taken by Eleanor Whitehead, a flying 14-year-old who stepped into senior competition and emerged with a meet record.

Miss Whitehead, who had previously won the junior 100-yard dash, moved into the open 220-yard race against such competition as senior girls' champion Anne McKechnie of Oak Bay, and set a new mark of 28.4, three-tenths of a second better than the old record.

The victory helped her to the junior aggregate championship.

Miss McKechnie, who set two records in the field events earlier in the week, won the 100-yard dash yesterday to clinch the senior title. Senior boys' championship went to Gary Troughton of Oak Bay, mostly on the strength of victories in the field events.

The junior title went to Dave Haegert of Victoria High, who beat out Cliff in the point totals. Haegert won the junior 100 and 220-yard dashes.

TACKLE BOX

Vancouver Island salmon fishing can not yet be called good, but there are some indications that it soon will be considerably better.

Once again, Saanich Inlet can be spotted as about the best area of all. Fishing there is steady and the number of larger springs is increasing slowly but surely. Hall's Boathouse reports that fishing has been good this week at the Goldstream end. The bluebacks have pretty well cleared out but there appears to be a good concentration of spring salmon.

For anglers out of Brentwood, there has been good fishing for jackspings in Indian Bay and blues are being caught off Senanus Island and Ardmore. The jacks are deep, about 150 feet of wire with planer needed, but many blues are being taken on six ounces of weight. The No. 1 McKnight and No. 3 Tom Mack spoons have been probably the best lures for blues while the Strip-Teaser is the best for springs.

BETTER FISHING, is reported off Sooke and a weekend trip to the area, particularly off Gordon's trap, could well be worthwhile. Gordie Bell is said to have boated four springs Monday, the largest about 30 pounds, while George Beale had three to 16 pounds Wednesday evening.

Increasing signs of activity are also reported off Oak Bay and it shouldn't be long before the salmon season is in full swing in those waters.

There is nothing new on Sansum Narrows, where salmon can be taken by working hard and fishing deep on most days. Porlier Pass is said to be good but the offering is mostly bluebacks.

Further north, there appears to be nothing good enough at the moment to warrant a trip, fishing having been very spotty in the stretch between Northwest Bay and Campbell River. But there are reports of big concentrations of bluebacks "out in the middle and deep" and it shouldn't be long before they move in and up. For those who can get there, the south side of Hornby Island is excellent for bluebacks, and there could be action within a day or two at Clayton's, near Northwest Bay. A south-easter blew yesterday and this almost always results in improved fishing in that area.

Adding to the thought that fishing is about to improve in this area is the experience of a group of navy anglers from HMCS Antigonish—Brian Inglis, Jim Thompson, Bruce Colegrave, Ted Aubrey and Al Bennett. They found good fishing this week off Maude Island, just off Northwest Bay. A 14½ pounder caught by Bennett was the largest.

LAKE FISHING, however, is good, except in the smaller, low-laying lakes, which are about through for the summer.

For those who like their trout fishing, the Campbell River area is certainly recommended, reports telling off excellent fishing in almost every lake in the area.

Cowichan Lake can be rated good for trollers with the small Strip-Teaser, orange flatfish or No. 3 Tom Mack spoon recommended lures. Highland lakes in the area are just starting to produce and such as Silver Lake could be a good bet for fly fishermen.

Water is low in the Cowichan River and fishing only fair. Some anglers are still finding brown trout in pools near Skutz Falls.

And for anyone forced to spend these lovely days working inside, there are few things more refreshing, and more fun, than an evening casting for small-mouth black bass.

This hot weather is just the ticket for these fish, making late-evening fishing productive, particularly for surface plugs. Prospect, Beaver, Elk, Langford, Durrance and Glen lakes all have bass and all are worth a try for those who have a boat they can use. Boats may be obtained at Sadler's at Beaver Lake but private boats are needed at other lakes.

GEORGE BATES, who is still sporting a beard worthy of mention, has scheduled a different kind of fishing derby at Bates Beach on Sunday, June 8. It's limited to those who have used the centennial year as an excuse for not shaving. There'll be prizes for the biggest and smallest salmon, for the angler who catches the most dogfish, and for various types of facial foliage. Three Courtenay barbers will decide on the awards for whiskers.

REELING IN: Annual reports on sports salmon fishing in B.C. by the Department of Fisheries includes the estimate that sports fishermen hauled 2,000,000 pounds of salmon out of B.C. waters last year. It probably isn't more than a million pounds out, one way or the other . . . Arnold Cole of Klitsa Lodge and Milo DeAngelis of Vancouver flew in to Nahmint Lake a week ago and picked up a 16-pound and two 14-pound steelhead as well as a four-pound trout in the Nahmint River just where it flows into the lake . . . Roger Lucas, who lives at Prospect Lake, was a disappointed nine-year-old last night when the scales disclosed the bass he caught yesterday afternoon weighed "only" four and a half pounds. Roger had hoped, and thought, that it was five and three-quarter pounds, a weight which would have made him the leader in the bass section of The Daily Colonist King Fisherman Contest. Anyone, however, will agree that four and a half pounds is a pretty good start for an angler of Roger's age.

Southpaw Don Lyon picked up his fourth victory and second shutout of the season for the Furnitueremen, stopping Duncan on four hits while striking out six and walking one man.

While Lyon was blanking the Mayomen, Len Anderson hit three singles, and Tom Hardy and Ron Pearce added four each. Art Binks highlighted the first-inning rally with a two-run homer.

Turley Star of Stars; Misses Fifth Shutout

Eight major league games last night produced some of the finest pitching of the season. There were four three-hitters, nine of the 16 starting pitchers went the distance, the eight losing clubs managed only a combined total of 13 runs and Warren Spahn went into the seventh inning with a perfect game. But standing out above them all was Bob Turley.

Turley, a 205-pound, 27-year-old righthander pitching his sixth big-time season, has apparently found the greatness long predicted to him.

Endowed with a blazing fast ball but little direction, Turley adopted teammate Don Larsen's no wind-up delivery last season and indicated better things to come with a 13-6 record and a 2.71 earned-run average, fourth best in the American League. This season, so far, he has been nothing short of phenomenal.

He started for the seventh time last night. He finished for the seventh time, and won for the seventh time. Only a ninth-inning run kept him from his fifth shutout as he pitched New York Yankees to an 8-1 win over Detroit Tigers.

Some indication of his effectiveness can be gleaned from the fact that his earned-run average actually rose last night, from 0.83 to 0.86. He has permitted only seven runs, five of them in one game and only six of them earned, and 31 hits in 63 innings.

Three-run homers by Gil McDougald and Elston Howard and another circuit clout by Yogi Berra made it easy for the Yankees to stretch their win streak to 10 games while extending the Tigers' losing streak through a ninth game.

MAYS HITS ANOTHER

In the National League, southpaw Johnny Antonelli, with the night's fourth three-hitter, and teammate Willie Mays of the San Francisco Giants stole the show from Spahn.

Spahn retired the first 19 men in order as Milwaukee Braves built up a 3-0 lead on the Giants. Then a walk, a single by Mays and a fielder's choice put the Giants on the scoresheet.

Rookies Bob Schmidt and Willie Kirkland homered in the eighth inning as the Giants pulled even, then Mays hit his 13th home run in the ninth to score two runs which won it for San Francisco, 5-3.

It was Mays' 12th home run in the last 14 games and it put the Giants two and a half games ahead.

Gdat of the evening was Philadelphia shortstop Chico Fernandez. He muffed an inning-ending double play in fifth inning and the Chicago Cubs went on from there to score seven runs, the margin in an 11-4 decision.

A bases-loaded triple by Al Dark, a two-run homer by Ernie Banks and a two-run double by Bobby Thomson did the damage.

FA Faces Threat . . . . . . . As Rejects Organize

Unwanted Soccer Clubs to Form New League

By ROGER STONEBANKS

LONDON (CP) — Thirty-nine professional soccer clubs, frustrated for years in their efforts to join the Football League, have banded together in an organization that promises to offer keen competition to the lower echelons of the 92-team body.

Their new, enlarged, Southern League, stretching from the English Channel to the Midlands, offers a challenge to the Football League's perennial policy of automatically re-electing its tail-end clubs and turning down applications from outsiders. One club, Peterborough United, has been turned down 17 times.

The new group is an amalgamation of the old, 22-member, Southern League with a number of clubs from other regional organizations. With one vacancy to be filled, it plans to operate on a two-zone basis next season. Then the top half of each zone will make up a premier division and the bottom half the first division. It hopes to add further divisions if the idea catches on.

The new league will be second in size only to the Football League itself and one sports writer, Maurice Smith of The People, has described it as "the greatest ever threat to big-league security."

"The big league clubs have persistently cold-shouldered us," explains A. C. Norris-Tellinig, chairman of the new body. "Now we've a big league of our own.

"The formation of the third and fourth divisions of the football league next season, in place of the two geographical sections of the third division, will hit some clubs financially. The more compact Southern League may well prove an attractive alternative by cutting down their traveling expenses.

Southern League clubs are confident there will be money and support for the new venture. Weymouth manager Arthur Coles says: "The new Southern League will be a bigger draw than ever. If I didn't think it was a good league I'd get out. I've had three managerial offers from Football League clubs."

Average attendance at Southern League grounds last season varied from 600 for struggling Lovell's Athletic to Peterborough's 9,000, which compares favorably with a number of third division gates. Most clubs draw about 2,500 to 3,000 fans to home matches.

Hearts Start with 6-1 Win; Putting Plumber Takes Lead

HEARTS OF MIDLOTHIAN, champions of Scottish soccer, opened their Canadian tour last night by blanking the Ontario All-Stars, 6-0, before 10,000 fans at Toronto's Varsity Stadium.

Held scoreless in the first half, Hearts broke through almost at will in the second half for an impressive victory. Acting-captain Jimmy Wardaugh and inside-right Willie Bauld each beat goalkeeper Steve Fecske, former Hungarian star, twice. Centre-forward Alex Young and right-winger Johnny Hamilton got a goal apiece.

It was the first of eight games for the Scots. They meet Manchester City in Vancouver's Empire Stadium on Saturday, May 31, then take on B.C. All-Stars, also at Vancouver, on Monday, June 2.

ERNIE VOSSLER, a former plumber who putted as if he laid a pipe to every hole yesterday took the lead in the $22,000 Kansas City open golf tournament by shooting a seven-under-par 65 for a 36-hole total of 132. The 29-year-old Texan, who got a new putter and spectacles only a month ago, sank putts from seven to 40 feet. He has earned $3,600 since getting his new equipment, but has yet to win a major title.

In second place, with 134s, were Lionel Hebert, South African Gary Player, Australian Bruce Crampton and Tommy Jacobs, the first-round leader with a 64.

Al Balding, one of Canada's best two pros, slipped to a 75 after an opening 69 and was 12 strokes off the pace at 144.

Garden Notes

They Flower to Death

By M. V. CHESNUT, FRHS

The Siberian Wallflower, Cheiranthus Allioni, is a familiar flower in and around Victoria, and few garden pictures are more striking in late [illegible] these plants, with their vivid orange coloring. The plant literally smothers itself with small flowers of a true orange shade, about the same hue as the old-fashioned marigold.

While the Siberian Wallflower is a true perennial, the plants are best treated as if they were biennial in habit, for they bloom so prolifically and so continuously as to flower themselves to death. In any case, young plants from seed put on a much better show in their second year than overage veterans.

For flowers to bloom next spring, the seeds should be started about the middle of June. You'll need a prepared seed bed in a sunny and open position with no protection of any kind, for these plants are aggressively hardy and resent coddling. The bed should be dug over and raked level, trodden firm, and raked down again to a fine tilth. A good sprinkle of lime, enough to whiten the surface of the bed, should be raked in at this stage, and will do a lot to promote the health of your seedling plants.

With the seed bed completed, make your seed furrows half an inch deep—I make mine by pressing a length of old hardwood flooring into the dirt—and space the rows a foot apart, so you can get in there with the Dutch hoe after growth has commenced. Hoeing should start just as soon as the seedlings can be distinguished clearly.

I always get more fine seed furrows with "Planter's Punch" before the seed is sown, partly to provide some immediately-available nutrients for the seedlings as they germinate, and partly to provide a wet surface for the seeds to cling to as I sow. It is annoying, to say the least, to see your expensive seeds blown away by some errant gust of wind.

Sow very thin indeed, and cover lightly with sifted soil, but even with the thinnest possible sowing, the seedlings are almost sure to be too crowded in the row and will need thinning. Thin until the baby plants are standing three inches apart, and you can get in a spot of hand-weeding in the rows during the thinning operation.

Before the young plants become at all crowded, they should be moved from the seed bed to a place in full sun where they can be spread out a bit more. As this will probably be around the end of July or early in August, there should be room for them in the vegetable plot, in a row where one of the early crops has been cleared away. Space the plants this time six inches apart, and don't forget to rake in a little lime first, as these plants are incurable lime addicts.

Now, midsummer isn't exactly the best time of the year to move plants in full growth, so the transplanting will have to be done with considerable care. Water them in individually as each plant is set in its hole, and use a few drops of vitamin B1 in the water as a precaution against transplanting shock. It is a good idea, too, if you can extemporize a bit of shade for the plants for the first few days, just while they are settling down in their new home.

Keep the plants hoed and watered regularly throughout the late summer, and give an occasional feed of "Planter's Punch"—one tablespoonful of soluble high-test fertilizer in a gallon of water. By planting time in the fall you should have a fine lot of sturdy specimens to set out in the front beds and borders for flowering the following spring.

The Viewing World

Elmer Davis, Man of Truth

Famous News Analyst Had Rare Gift—Sense

Some years ago, we gave Elmer Davis (who died recently) a Peabody Award for his dry, terse, superbly sensible newscasts. The award luncheon was opened by a pretty scathing attack on broadcasting by Ted Weeks, editor of "The Atlantic Monthly," and an editor of Little, Brown & Company, the publishers, who, as I recall, lit into the broadcasters for imitating successful radio shows; for their pursuit of profit and for their avoidance of experiment.

Mr. Davis lumbered to his feet to accept his award and remarked, in those flat Hoosier tones that gave his every utterance such naked authority: "The broadcasters have just been accused of imitating the successful, of pursuing a buck, of being afraid to try anything new. Of course, all these vices are unknown to the publishing business."

That not only put Mr. Weeks and the rest of us on the Peabody Award Committee in our places, but it put the sins of the broadcaster into proper human perspective.

Putting things into proper perspective was the special quality of genius that Elmer Davis brought to his profession, which was journalism. If you get just one master of common sense in a century, you are lucky.

It was not Elmer Davis who said: "I disapprove of what you say, but I will defend to the death your right to say it." It was Voltaire. But Davis might very well have said it.

The two men—Voltaire and Davis—were very similar; they both got straight to the heart of the matter; they said it in few words; their utterances were a mixture of candor and courage which in any society quite properly passes as wit; they were both men of such towering integrity that they spoke the truth aloud when others were reduced to whispers and no one dared lay a finger on them because they were the men they were.

In 1954, E. B. White, another of those rare strong clear speakers of truth, said of Davis: "He is over sixty and his doctor wants him to taper off. Even a tapered off Davis is worth ten of most men."

Davis' book ("But We Were Born Free"), came out right at the height of the clamor Sen. McCarthy was stirring up, and when people defended McCarthy for bringing the evils of Communism to the attention of the people, Davis wrote: "This amounts to saying that noticing brings the danger of fire more to the attention of the public than turning in false alarms all over town."

Davis was no more afraid of McCarthy than he was afraid of witches, but he was sane enough to realize there were some things you ought to be afraid of. He spent his life telling people, for God's sake, be afraid of the real things, not of imaginary terrors and pointing out which was which.

* * *

In the early days of the Second World War, his newscasts were largely a catalogue of catastrophe for the forces of democracy. Conscientious journalist that he was, Davis reported these disasters fully and unflinchingly. Still I came away from his nightly newscasts reassured and hopeful because those drawling Indiana tones and that stringent Indiana common sense put even disaster into its proper focus.

It's a rare quality indeed that can report the blackest news and yet leave the audience reassured and hopeful and just a little wiser. Davis did it night after night.

A whole generation has come of age that knew Davis only by reputation and perhaps not even by that. There is, God knows, no one remotely comparable to him on the scene now and perhaps his time has passed. He was of an age of mighty alarms and his voice kept the multitude calm.

Today the multitude is entirely too calm and the next great voice in broadcasting could well be one that ruffles the multitude and makes it mad, not the other way around. There aren't any of those voices around either.

BRIDGE QUIZ

When the opening bidder "reverses"—i.e., bids a higher suit than his first bid—after a response of one no-trump he indicates a good hand in the 17-18-point range or slightly better, but with distribution that did not suit an opening bid of one no-trump. Such a rebid is not forcing, but it is strongly urging and the no-trumper should make an effort to bid again if possible.

With both sides vulnerable, the bidding:

North	East	South	West
1 ♢	Pass	1 N.T.	Pass
2 ♣	Pass	?

What should South do with each of the following hands?

♠ Q 5 4
♡ 9 4 3
♣ K 7 6 5 4 2

(b)
♠ 10 5 4
♡ A Q 10
♢ J 6 2

(c)

♢ J 2
♣ Q J 10 6 4

(f)
♠ 9 6 5
♡ 10 8 3
♢ J 2
♣ A K 7 5 4

ANSWERS TO BRIDGE QUIZ

(a) Pass. You have already shaded your no-trump response because of your singleton diamond. To make another bid would court trouble.

(b) Three no-trump. You have an absolute maximum no-trump with both unbid suits doubly stopped. Two no-trump would be the weakest possible rebid, so avoid it.

(c) Three spades. The raise with only three trumps is unusual, but partner should realize that if you had a good four-card spade suit you would have bid one spade initially. You can't bid two no-trump without a heart stopper.

(d) Three hearts. This must be a cue-bid since you did not bid one heart at your first opportunity. When partner bids spades your 10-point hand is suddenly worth 13 and your two aces suggest slam possibilities.

(e) Two no-trump. This is the weakest rebid you can make. You have no real preference for diamonds and are rebidding largely out of respect to partner's reverse. If partner has about 19 points you may be able to make game.

(f) Three clubs. This is the bid that best pictures your hand. If partner has a singleton heart you may have game at clubs. If he has hearts well stopped, you may have game at no-trump. At worst, he can bid three diamonds, which should be safe.

Strong Spots Develop At Toronto

TORONTO (CP) — The stock market was firm at the close Friday in the heaviest trading in three months.

Final volume was 3,499,000 shares the fastest since Feb. 6 when 3,627,000 traded and compared with Thursday's 3,005,000. Four stocks Northcal Oils with 253,000, Maralgo 221,975, Starratt 214,000 and Norgold 111,000 accounted for almost one-quarter of the volume.

Steels headed by Algoma ahead ¼ points at 85¾ and Stelco up ½ at 57¾ led the industrial sector. Among the winners were Canada Packers, International Nickel, Goodyear, The Dominion Scottish Investments and Molsons A and B.

McIntyre, losing 2½ points pulled the gold index down. Hudson Bay Mining, Noranda, Lamaque and Sheep Rock were all fractional winners.

Western oils were gaining strength at the close after hovering a little on the downside most of the day. Senior oils were pace setters with Calgary and Edmonton, Home Oil B and Hudson's Bay Oil climbing in a ½ point range.

Western Oils Weaken

MONTREAL (CP) — Prices on the Montreal and Canadian stock exchanges were generally stronger in a widespread range at the close Friday. Turnover in industrials was modest, the mines and oils it was slight.

Most industrial groups were gaining ground.

Western oils were weaker with Central Del Rio down 10 cents at 7.90.

Aircrafts Make Gains

NEW YORK (AP) — Stocks edged higher with the list around its best average levels of the year.

Strong leadership was lacking with the largest volume in such issues as American Bosch Arma, Monmouth Pictures, Aluminium, Philip Morris and Shell Transport. U.S. Steel was active in its section and around the news best.

The tobaccos settled down to narrow price movements. Oils produced several strong spots and a group of new highs. Metals ran up fractions to more than a point on a firmer price tone for copper metal. Aircrafts gained. Some of the chemicals, drugs, tires, steels and special issues moved higher.

A long list of issues reached new highs for the year including Bethlehem and Crucible in the steel, Beech, Cessna, Grumman, Lockheed and Northrup in the aircrafts, Amerada, Cities Service, Kerr McGee and Union Oil of California in the petroleums.

Whirlybirds Rise

VANCOUVER — Woodward Stores rose to a new high of $41 while Okanagan Helicopters advanced 20 cents to 2.80. Capital Estates was in strong demand at 55¢.

Bralorne was up 15 cents at 6.25 among golds but most other mines were steady to lower. Craigmont closed at 2.60 and Trojan at 16 cents, both lower on the day.

Oils showed little change.

NO. 137—HUNDREDTH YEAR | VICTORIA, BRITISH COLUMBIA, SATURDAY, MAY 24, 1958 | SECOND NEWS SECTION

Vintage Cars May Arrive by Barge

Strike Won't Stop Them

Strike or no strike the ancient cars taking part in the Centennial Vintage Car race will reach Victoria on schedule tonight 7 p.m.

If the shipping strike cuts the remaining ferries from Vancouver and Vancouver Island the old, old autos will be ferried across on barges.

Most of the 34 cars which are puffed into Vancouver Friday taking part in the 830-mile en route race will reach Victoria through the Fraser Valley.

They will be welcomed by the Victoria Kinsmen's Club on the causeway as they arrive and will be put on display.

The never-say-die antiques trying to catch up with the caravan which averaged about 30 miles an hour over the six-day stretch. The Lozier was the last car to leave Nelson with its scheduled arrivals but by driving through meal times and rest periods it caught the rest at New Westminster.

Another temperamental old timer was a 1924 Willys truck owned by John C. Morrie of Victoria. However it too caught the tailenders when they entered New Westminster.

Crowds greeted the colorful cavalcade through the Fraser Valley. People wearing costumes of the late 19th and 20th centuries made the drivers the centre of attraction along the route.

A Girl's Best Friend

Old favorites such as dolls and tin soldiers still hold the interest of elementary school children even in this age of television. Lampson Street School PTA contends. Members feel the point was proved by response to a bazaar stock in the school this week. Prize winning Japanese doll is being cuddled by Susan Dell, 7, of 628 Head Street. 30 Supervised Areas

Come One, Come All And Play

A grand total of 30 supervised playgrounds will be in operation in Greater Victoria this summer with a full program of games, handicrafts, swimming instruction and special events.

The Victoria city program will include tennis instruction on public courts topped by a city juvenile tennis championship tournament sponsored by the Junior Chamber of Commerce.

Gordon Hartley, chief supervisor of the Victoria playground program and now embarking on his 12th year of service, said yesterday none playgrounds would be operated in the city this year, including the two main ones at Central and Beacon Hill parks.

The supervised program will start July 2 and continue through to Aug. 8. Hours at Central and Beacon Hill will be 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. and at the seven district areas from 1 to 5 p.m.

Other playgrounds on the list are Hackland, Cameron, Oaklands, Stadacona, Rockland, Hollywood and James Bay.

Swimming instruction for children of all ages will be conducted every Tuesday and Friday morning at the Crystal Garden with six trained instructors in attendance.

In Saanich 16 playgrounds will be under trained supervision from July 7 for a six-week program that will include swimming instruction under qualified teachers.

Playgrounds in the Saanich area are Regatta, Rudd Qu'Appelle, Hampton, Meadow Marigold, Raymond, Reynolds, Majestic, Maynard, Alderwy, Bradford, Cora Street, Berg, Royalty, Tennie and Broadmead.

An extensive program of repairs and renovations has been carried out by the municipality in preparation for the playground season.

At Oak Bay two playgrounds are being readied for grand opening July 2. The supervised program will continue to July 30.

Parks on the list are Cattar-ione, Firemens, Willows, Windsor and Lafayette.

Swimming instruction with four qualified instructors will also be carried out in addition to the regular playground program.

Got a Beard, Pardner!

Kangaroo court will be convened in Sidney this morning. Sheriff Tom Rothgardt, above, warned last night. Persons convicted by the court for failing to have a beard and for growing beards without a permit will be fined $1. Victims will receive tickets to the grand ball which is to be held July 1. Judge of the court will be Roy Sudlaby. Judging by his picture it would appear the sheriff will be the first man to be punched.

Pickers Badly Needed

Unless sufficient adult berry pickers come forward it might be necessary for school children to be used for the work, J. H. Fox, manager of the Victoria National Employment Service, said last night.

"The need for pickers is urgent," Mr. Fox said. "Picking will start this weekend on a limited scale and the demand should reach its peak by the end of the week."

Zoo Law 'Teeth' On Way

Regulations governing private zoos in B.C. will be placed before the provincial cabinet next week for approval. Provincial game commissioner Maurice Pope said yesterday.

Mr. Pope said the regulations would be the first under the new game act passed at the last session of the legislature.

The regulations would be submitted to the attorney-general's department.

Mr. Westwood said the regulations would cover compounds and animal parade, as a step up in conditions to the general benefit of each zoo, to ensure each animal adequate pens, safety measures and apply humane treatment of animals.

The regulations prompted after a zoo was opened here a month ago. Next to the last animal in the local zoo, an aged lion, died last month. The lion will be replaced for the benefit of such zoos.

Saanich 'Rosy' Says Ash

Saanich finances are "definitely rosy" at the moment, Reeve Arthur Ash said yesterday commenting on the municipality's operating surplus of $236,014 at the end of the fiscal year.

But part of the surplus was some $130,000 which the council last year transferred from revenue surpluses for a proposed new municipal hall. Only $11,500 of the money was spent for architect fees. A vote by ratepayers rejected the project.

If we deduct this $130,000 the true surplus is only $127,114, he said.

Report Soon On Ice Sheet

TRUDY AMMANN

A final report on costs of constructing a hard sheet of ice in Victoria will be drawn up at a special meeting of Victoria Jaycees' community promotion committee Monday night.

The report, which will include suggestions on ways to finance the project, will be presented to a meeting of the Jaycees executive. Ideas on ways to finance the project will be sought at a meeting of membership.

Jaycees decided to investigate the construction of the ice sheet after a committee headed by Bruce Mason reported that it would be feasible.

At the May 5 meeting, members were told the cost of the project would be between $40,000 and $140,000. After a lengthy discussion, members voted that the matter should be fully investigated and a fully report.

Freezing equipment forming part of the equipment in Memorial Arena will be used to freeze the ice if the project goes ahead.

The project would be financed in part by the Jaycees and part by the Victoria Junior Chamber of Commerce.

Where the proposed sheet would be located is another question. Point Ellice Bridge, Stadium, Beacon Hill Park, Oak Bay Junior High School and the Victoria Curling Club are the places mentioned as possibilities.

Not Enough Cash Says Parks Group

Victoria Saanich beaches and parks committee decided yesterday to tell city and Saanich councils that it considers the amount of money at its disposal "totally inadequate" and that the sum could well be increased tenfold.

The committee made its annual tour of the eight parks in Saanich several of them city-owned for which it is responsible and approved an $11,000 budget. It asked the Victoria and Saanich engineers to recommend how it should spend another $6,000 available this year.

Coun. George Chatterton's motion to protest the inadequacy of the Victoria and Saanich contributions ($8000 and $4000 respectively this year) led aldermen and commissioners into the usual debate on the merit of Victoria spending money on parks in Saanich.

Ald. Geoffrey Edgerton said he was happy to join in the motion because while Victoria was spending $250,000 on parks this year, Saanich was spending $[illegible] and maybe the time had come for Saanich to take over city-owned parks within its boundaries.

He was sure, he said, that city council wouldn't want to increase its spending on parks in Saanich.

Sir Ernest MacMillan To Guest-Conduct Here

Sir Ernest MacMillan will be a guest conductor for one of the 10 pairs of Victoria Symphony Orchestra concerts next season, symphony society president Jack Barraclough announced yesterday.

He also announced that Hans Gruber, whose contract as regular conductor here has been renewed for another year, will make some guest appearances in Eastern Canada during the coming season.

'Fire Wire To John D.' —Chamber

Victoria Chamber of Commerce last night urged all Vancouver Island residents to send telegrams to Prime Minister John Diefenbaker asking that the government intervene in the strike of SIU seamen against the CPR.

"We feel that if we can bring public opinion upon the government it (the government) will be justified to act," Arnold Webb said. He added that telegrams could be short and not expensive to send.

Alberni High Again Wins Island Student Paper Award

Award for the best senior high school student newspaper on Vancouver Island was won last night for the second straight year by Alberni District High school in judges in the annual Victoria Newspaper Guild contest.

Judges considered "The Phoenix" a major effort by the school . . . both in content and make-up it shows a high degree of competence."

The Lansdowne Flyer of Lansdowne Junior High school here was adjudged the best junior high school newspaper. Comments of judges praised its art work, near appearance, bright writing and simple straightforward composition of its articles.

An inscribed shield and a $75 cash award goes to "The Phoenix." An inscribed shield and a $50 award goes to the Lansdowne Flyer.

A LOVELIER YOU

By Mary Sue Miller

BIG DOUBLE-CROSS. In grandma's day a lady who crossed her legs when seated was no lady. And some suspicion still exists as to the propriety of the pose, but for different reasons. Figure reasons!

If you habitually sit with legs crossed, you may affect their contours. Just cross your legs at the knee and look at them. Then you will see how they bulge in the cross and pressure of this sort on calf or thigh could not but result in permanent spread.

Consequently, there is value in making a part-time pose of the leg cross and then, being careful to cross and alternate at the knee. That way the effect may look perfect but pressures are lessened.

Should your figure problem be heavy or unshapely legs, avoiding crossed positions altogether would improve the situation. In extreme cases, cases [illegible] to say, it may mean that exercise would not suffice. It would take [illegible] hose.

LEG-LINE TRIMMERS

If your figure problem is heavy legs, see [illegible] for [illegible] exercises which will do a lot toward [illegible] exercises that will meet your individual needs, whether for thighs, knees, ankles or [illegible] legs. 'Canada Can't Be Ignored'

NEW YORK (BUP)—The Scripps-Howard newspapers warned Americans yesterday that high-batting Canada can be "as costly and vitally important to U.S. interests as our foul-up in Latin-America."

The editorial, as it appeared in the New York World Telegram and Sun, was inspired by publication of Canada's new foreign trade figures, which showed imports from the United States down 17 per cent.

'THERE IT WENT'

"That's even two per cent more than had been proposed by Prime Minister John Diefenbaker—whose aim in life is to let the United States know Canada is no country cousin of ours," the editorial said. "There went $273 million worth of our trade, mostly diverted to Britain and Commonwealth nations. In a year's time it could mount up to nearly a billion dollars worth.

NOT BLUFFING

"Obviously Canadians haven't been bluffing or talking for talk's sake."

The editorial also asked, "must we always follow a policy of not mending a leaky roof when the weather's fair?"

Murder Suspect Defends Self

Fighting for Life Woodcutter 'Amazes'

dropped his three lawyers on GLASGOW (AP) — Peter Manuel, American-born woodcutter, has drawn astounded applause from British newspapers for his legal style as his own defence counsel in the trial for his life.

"The laborer of humble education showed amazing legal skill in his fight for life," says The London Daily Sketch. The London Express says "this little wood-cutter startled the Glasgow High Court with his poise and command of language."

The 32-year-old Manuel Thursday and announced that he would defend himself against eight murder charges.

The Express says:

"When he cross-examined the police chiefs his questions poured out in a torrent. He stabbed out with stubby fingers in emphasis. He used legal jargon. He spoke clearly—except when he got excited."

Manuel, born in New York and taken to Scotland by his parents years ago, is charged with killing three women, three teen-age girls, a man and a boy. He has pleaded not guilty.

Nary a Movie in Months

Butte Popcorn Sales Likely at New Low

BUTTE, Mont. (AP)—Nobody goes to the movies in this city of 35,000. They haven't for the last 6½ months.

A strike of projectionists has closed all five theatres.

And it doesn't look as though the dispute over whether modern projection equipment requires one or two operators is any nearer settlement.

"It's a case of feather bedding," complained John Tella, manager of two Butte theatres.

"It's a case of trying to change something that has prevailed for 30 years," answers Sam Spiegel, spokesman for Local 94 of the International Alliance of Theatrical Stage Employees (AFL-CIO). "We've had two men in the booths since 1928."

The theatres have offered $4 an hour for a one-man operation. In past years two men earned $2.83 each.

Theatres in cities near Butte, especially Anaconda, have benefited from the strike. Special buses run the 22 miles to Anaconda and back. The charge of $1.50 for the round trip includes a theatre ticket.

VD on Increase Despite Science

VANCOUVER — Venereal disease is increasing in many countries, despite modern medical advances, says Dr. M. G. Candau, director-general of the World's Health Organization. The public has become over-confident about cures and health authorities often have relaxed their vigilance, he says.

$1,500,000 Will Start Wind Tunnel

OTTAWA (CP)—The government has put aside $1,500,000 for a start this year on construction of a supersonic wind tunnel at Uplands Airport here. The total cost probably will be $6,000,000.

The tunnel likely will be used mainly for pre-flight evaluation tests of guided missiles and new military planes.

Not expected to be completely operative until 1961, the tunnel will have a speed range up to Mach 4.5—that is, 4½ times the speed of sound.

With proper tunnel facilities it is possible to anticipate and solve—with models—many aerodynamic problems before the first flight of the actual planes or missile ever takes place.

Suspended Brokers Plan to Reorganize

TORONTO (CP) — Cradock Securities Ltd., suspended a week ago as a member of the Toronto Stock Exchange, will be reorganized and may be amalgamated with another exchange member, Eric Cradock, president, said Thursday.

The company was suspended by the exchange because its capital account had fallen below exchange requirements.

"We are trying to arrange for new capital," said Mr. Cradock. "There is no suggestion that investors stand to lose any money because of the suspension."

Mr. Cradock said the details of the reorganization would be settled in a day or two.

Canadian Office Site Wins Award

NEW YORK (CP) — Canada House, selected by the city's "salute to seasons" awards committee as the commercial building which made the greatest contribution this spring to the further beautification of New York, has received an award from Mayor Robert Wagner.

The mayor presented a certificate of appreciation to Ray Lawson, former consul-general of Canada here, and William Zeckendorf, president of the Webb & Knapp realty firm.

Canada House, newest office building to be completed on Fifth Avenue, features a plaza-like forecourt which has been landscaped with shrubbery and seasonal flowers. The plaza is further enhanced by a colorful display of the coats of arms of the provinces, cast in enamelled bronze.
